

Our Consolidation Services

We assist in combining several individual consignments from the port of origin to make up a full container load. This arrangement allows the goods to be shipped as containerized cargo that offers greater security at lower shipping rates. At the destination, the consolidated shipment is separated (deconsolidated or de-grouped) back into the original individual consignments for delivery to their respective consignees.